

Background Screening

Are you aware of who might be putting you or your business at risk? We will identify them before they can cause harm

Socalytix operates in the Digital Risk Protection market, creating a secure environment for our customers. Our AI-powered Behavioral Analysis platform, combined with an advanced data collection network, taps into hundreds of data points across the web and social media. This powerful combination delivers unparalleled insights through cutting-edge AI analysis, ensuring you're always a step ahead of potential risks.

We are focused on identifying risk factors associated with various individuals and entities, including candidates, employees, suppliers, maintenance personnel, invited visitors, and anyone interacting with our organization. Our investigations cover a range of concerns, including substance abuse, mental health issues, gambling, impersonation, high-risk activities, violence, radical behavior, sensitive locations, and affiliations with hostile entities, among others. We provide detailed reports that outline the specific risk factors identified for everyone.
